8-97121587-0 Thermostat conduit For ISUZU NPR/4HF1 models. It provides precise control of engine coolant flow and circulation path. At low temperatures, coolant flow is reduced, allowing the engine to warm up quickly to optimum operating temperature. At high temperatures, the flow rate is increased to effectively dissipate heat and prevent the engine from overheating. For example, when starting the vehicle in cold winter, the thermostat conduit can help the engine to warm up quickly and improve fuel efficiency; and in hot summer, it can protect the engine from damage due to high temperature.
